

Xiaolin Xu is joining the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering at the University of Illinois at Chicago as a tenure-track Assistant Professor in fall 2018. He is actively looking for self-motivated students to join his research group. Dr. Xu's research interests span hardware security and trust, embedded system design, computer architecture, applied Machine Learning and VLSI. Full financial support will be provided.

About UIC and Chicago:

UIC is ranked as R1: Doctoral Universities - Highest Research Activity, by the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. UIC ECE is among the top-ranked electrical and computer engineering program according to USNEWS 2018. UIC is located in the downtown of Chicago, one of the largest cities in the U.S. Chicago is famous for its bold architecture, skyline punctuated by skyscrapers.

Application deadlines:

Spring 2019, July 15, 2018, for international students; and November 1, 2018-domestic

Fall 2019, (*Recommended Financial Aid-January 15, 2019); February 15, 2019 - international; May 15, 2019 – domestic

Application materials:

Please combine all application materials (e.g., CV, transcripts, publications, TOEFL and GRE scores) into a single PDF file, send it to xiaolin8@uic.edu, send the email with the title: UIC-ECE-PhD-Application